1.2. Main concepts

- 1.2.1. "License" is a word of Latin origin (sino, licentia, patiorce), meaning permission to perform an action. According to the explanatory dictionary, meaning of the word "license" includes the right to use patented invention or production. The NSI will use the concept "license" in the sense of permission to use statistical information available through any of the means listed in Section 1, item 1.1. and under the conditions specified in Section 2;

- 1.2.2. "Database" means a collection of independent works, data or other materials, arranged systematically or methodically and individually accessible in electronic or other way (§2, 13 of the Additional provisions of the Law on the copyright and related rights);
- 1.2.3. "Statistical information" is aggregate, quantitative and representative information about the status and/or dynamics of mass phenomena in existing populations of statistical units in economy, demographics, social area and environment. (§1, 3 of the Additional provisions of the Law on statistics);
- 1.2.4. "Individual data" are data about a specific statistical unit (§1, 2 of the Additional provisions of the Law on statistics);
- 1.2.5. "Personal data" shall refer to any information relating to an individual who is identified or identifiable, directly or indirectly, by reference to an identification number or to one or more specific features. (Art. 2, 1 of the Law for protection of personal data);
- 1.2.6. "Statistical secret" is a principle, according to which, data, relating to individual subjects, are protected, obtained directly for statistical purposes or indirectly from administrative or other sources. This entails a ban on using the data obtained for other purposes than statistical ones and a ban on their illegal disclosure. (§1, 15 of the Additional provisions of the Law on statistics);
- 1.2.7. "Reproduction" means multiplication of the information or any part of it in one or more copies, in any manner and in any form, permanent or temporary, including storing in digital form on electronic media;
- 1.2.8. "Dissemination" means all activities, in which all the information or part of it is provided, announced, displayed or presented;
- 1.2.9. "Use" means reproduction of the information, dissemination among unlimited number of persons, public performance, wireless broadcasting, transmission and retransmission of information, translating to another language, as well as performing one or more activities related to copyright and requiring permission from the copyright holder.

2. LICENSE

Through the use of information provided under this license, you accept the terms and conditions set out therein.

According to the Ordinance on standard conditions for reuse of public sector information and its publication in an open format (Decree № 147/2016 of the Council of Ministers), which transposes Directive 2003/98 with rights of free reuse, processing and dissemination, each information created or collected within the powers or functions of the public sector organization shall be provided.
