

XIII. TRANSPORT

Data in section 'Transport' covers state and municipal companies that exercise transport or auxiliary transport activity and transport enterprises and establishments belonging to non-transport companies, that compile full set of accounts and are assigned to sector Transport in the Register of economic activities.

In table 1 and 9 total length of railways includes the current way and the lines in the area of the stations. Data for the current way includes the length of the rails between stations axes and the distance from frontier stations to country's boundary. The total length of air lines includes the length of the lines in one direction; the overlapping lines are measured once.

In table 2 till 1988 incl. data regards only persons engaged in transport enterprises completing full set of accounts and since 1989 are also included persons engaged in transport organizations and offices financed by the State budget.

In table 3 till 1991 incl., the annual average salary of persons engaged regards also persons in maternity leave and since 1992 does not include them.

In table 6 are not included the automobiles with special purpose (anti-fire, medical, training, repair workshops, laboratories etc.) that do not carry out transport activity.

Data published in table 7 for transported goods and work carried out on the line Road transport includes the administration road transport (except trailers driven by wheeled tractors). Till 1989 incl. data on the row 'Road transport' and data on the line 'For common use' regards the transported goods and the work carried out by freight automobiles above 1 ton and since 1990 by the freight automobiles under 1 ton and the freight taximeter automobiles. Since 1990 data in 'Road transport' includes also goods transported by and work carried out by freight automobiles under lease. In 'Pipeline transport' is included only the activity of oil product pipeline.

In table 8 data published under 'Road transport' about transported passengers and work carried out also includes the administration automobile transport and since 1990 - transported passengers and work carried out by autobuses under lease.

Data about railway transport do not include the administration railway transport.

The length of parallel and electrified lines (table 9) is measured in one direction.

In division 'Road transport' data published in table 17 till 1989 incl. regards the activity of freight automobiles above 1 ton and since 1990 is included also data for the freight automobiles under 1 ton and freight taximeter automobiles.

In tables 18, 19 and 20 is not included data for administration automobiles under lease.

Data in tables 25 and 26 till 1988 incl., includes only loaded and unloaded on ships goods in inland and sea harbours inland and sea harbours of transport for common use and since 1989 is also included data for administration inland and sea harbours.